

Sharon Edwards

President
Edwards Communications

Are you able to leverage your expertise at the moment when you need it most—the moment when you share it with others? Sharon Edwards believes that the key to influence is a combination of your expertise and effective communication strategies and presentation skills.

Drawing on 25 years of experience as an international award winning journalist and broadcaster, Sharon shows executives how to harness the power of their expertise and combine it with effective communication skills by using a series of techniques to identify and refine key messages; demonstrate their leadership with effective presentations; and position themselves as experts in their field.

She also works with organizations to identify internal communications issues and create solutions that support groups, teams and individuals to become more effective and efficient communicators.

Sharon's clients include public and private companies from the oil and gas sector, manufacturing and distribution, not for profit organizations, professional associations and media.

Sharon's expertise has been recognized with three New York Festivals International Radio Awards and a Canadian ACTRA Award for excellence in interviewing and program hosting.